Allowances

Subsistence allowances and advances

Where the recipient is obliged to spend at least one night away from his/her usual place of residence on business and the accommodation to which that allowance or advance relates is in the Republic and the allowance or advance is granted to pay for —

- meals and incidental costs, an amount of R208 per day is deemed to have been expended;

Rates per kilometre which may be used in determining the allowable deduction for business-travel, where no records of actual costs are kept.

exceeding 360 000	100 011	77.1	68.0

Note: The fixed cost must be reduced on a pro-rata basis if the vehicle is used for business purposes for less than a full year.

Of the actual distance travelled during a tax year, in the absence of a log book, it is deemed that the first 18 000 kilometres are travelled for private purposes and the balance, but not exceeding 14 000 kilometres are travelled for business purposes.

60% of the travelling allowance must be included in the employee's remuneration for the purposes of calculating PAYE.

Alternatively:

- Where the distance travelled for business purposes does not exceed 8 000 kilometres per annum, no tax is payable on an allowance paid by an employer to an employee, up to the rate of 246 cents per kilometre regardless of the value of the vehicle.
- This alternative is not available if other compensation in the form of an allowance or reimbursement is received from the employer in respect of the vehicle.

Other deductions

Other than the deductions set out above an individual may only claim deductions against employment income or allowances in limited specified situations, e.g. bad debt in respect of salary and premiums on certain income protection policies.

Fringe Benefits

Employer-owned vehicles

- The taxable value is 2,5% of the determined value (usually the cash cost excluding VAT) per month. Where a second (and further) vehicle is made available to an employee or his family, and the vehicle is not used primarily for business purposes, the benefit is 2,5% per month on the vehicle with the highest value and 4% per month on the other vehicle(s).
- Where the employee bears the cost of all fuel used for the purposes of the private use of the vehicle (including travelling between the employee's place of residence and his/her place of employment) the monthly percentage to be applied is reduced by 0,22 percentage points.

- If the employee bears the full cost of maintaining the vehicle (including the cost of repairs, servicing, lubrication and tyres) the monthly percentage to be applied is reduced by 0,18 percentage points.

Interest-free or low-interest loans

The difference between interest charged at the official rate and the actual amount of interest charged, is to be included in gross income.

Residential accommodation

The fringe benefit to be included in gross income is the greater of the benefit calculated by applying a prescribed formula or the cost to the employer.

The formula will apply if the accommodation is owned by the employer, or an associated institution in relation to the employer, or under certain limited circumstances where it is not owned by the employer.
